A message of hope

LONNIE MIMS, A FORMER MCH RESIDENT, SPOKE AT A HELPING AMERICA'S YOUTH CONFERENCE HOSTED BY MRS. LAURA BUSH

“Finding at-risk children and youth who need to discover the hope that is offered through this ministry has never been, nor will it be, difficult to do.”

MCH achieves goal to serve 1,000 children

As a friend of Methodist Children’s Home, I am sure you heard in recent years about this ministry’s goal to serve 1,000 at-risk children and youth each day. I am excited to tell you that we achieved this goal in April.

Finding at-risk children and youth who need to discover the hope that is offered through this ministry has never been, nor will it be, difficult to do. As I told our staff, we can pick any spot on a Texas or New Mexico map and identify communities where at-risk children need our services. Unfortunately, in those same locations, we can identify government and faith-based agencies that are closing their doors or cutting services due to a lack of funding.

As we consider opportunities to expand the scope of this ministry, we are diligent in our research to identify locations where our program can flourish and impact the largest number of children in the most cost effective way. We are blessed to have faithful benefactors whose support enables our expansion plans to become a reality. This issue of Sunshine features our annual Circle of Friends recognition. This list identifies individuals, churches and foundations who helped the Home increase funding again this year. Methodist Children’s Home would not be able to offer hope to at-risk children without this support, along with the contributions of past supporters who designated gifts from their estate to strengthen our permanent endowment.

The Home’s financial and physical resources enabled us to answer the call in April when the state sought support for children from the YFZ Ranch in Eldorado. We were able to immediately hire additional staff to serve more than 40 of these children, purchase new beds and mattresses, renovate a building to house the children, plan daily meals and organize activities. While the situation at the YFZ Ranch has captured the nation’s attention, caring for children in need is nothing new for this ministry. We serve children every day who have experienced abuse, neglect, violence, the result of poor choices and hopelessness prior to coming to Methodist Children’s Home.

Thank you for supporting this ministry. In busy times like these, when we are accomplishing so much for children, I am reminded of how special the Home is and how it truly offers hope through a nurturing, Christian community. I promise you that MCH will continue to work tirelessly to fulfill its mission to children, regardless of the circumstances that bring them to us. Thank you for empowering me to fulfill this promise.

For His Children,

Bobby Gilliam

AN OPPORTUNITY TO SERVE

Methodist Children’s Home served more than 40 children from the YFZ Ranch in Eldorado from April 25 through June 3. The Home is grateful for the staff members who maintained their commitment to the Home’s mission by helping to serve these children.

Program Accomplishments

Methodist Children's Home served nearly 1,600 children through its various programs during the year. The Home served more than 800 children daily.

MCH reached its goal for the first of three annual matching gift campaigns to provide resources for expansion opportunities.

MCH youth on the Waco campus contributed a combined total of 10,137 hours of volunteer service to more than 15 agencies, organizations, schools or ministries. This total does not include the service provided by the 50 youth at the Boys Ranch.

MCH youth served others in need during missions trips sponsored by the Central Texas and Texas Annual Conferences of the United Methodist Church.

Thirty-five former residents pursued advanced education through a variety of degree programs. Students attended McLennan Community College and Texas State Technical College in Waco, along with the following four-year universities: Midwestern State, Texas A&M, Texas A&M-Kingsville, Texas State, Houston, North Texas, Texas and UT-Arlington. The Home also had a graduate attending the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center.

The University of Texas Charter School - MCH Campus received the "academically acceptable" rating from the Texas Education Agency for the fourth consecutive year.

The charter school received official recognition for its student council by the Texas Association of Student Councils.

MCH opened the Sammy Baugh Cottage, a foster group home in Jayton, Texas.

The Home finalized plans to begin an after-school education and recreation program in Crockett, Texas in the winter of 2008.

MCH completed major renovation of the Administration Building, which was built in 1955.

A message of hope

During a Helping America's Youth conference hosted by Mrs. Laura Bush, former MCH resident Lonnie Mims shared how he discovered a sense of purpose for his life while living at the Home.

Sitting in the same room as the President of the United States, Lonnie Mims reflected on his journey in life that led him to The White House.

A former resident of Methodist Children's Home, Mims and other young adults from across the country were attending a special event recognizing the Helping America's Youth initiative Feb. 7 in Washington, D.C. As he looked across the room, Mims was struck by the reality of being at The White House.

"I thought, 'I can't believe I'm actually in the same room as President Bush,'" Mims recalled. "I never would have guessed this would happen to me."

The Helping America's Youth initiative is a national effort established by President Bush in 2005 to raise awareness about the challenges at-risk youth face. Mims and other young people in attendance at The White House event had participated in Helping America's Youth regional conferences earlier in the year.

Mims, who was placed into state custody as a young child, lived for several years in foster care before moving to MCH in 2000. In recent years, he has received support through the Transition Resource Action Center (TRAC) in Dallas, which provides educational and career guidance for young men and women who have been in custody of the state. His involvement with TRAC led to an invitation to speak at a regional Helping America's Youth conference in Dallas last November.

Mims feels blessed to have had the opportunity to see President Bush. He received a phone call from The White House just days before the event. Although he was thrilled at the invitation, Mims learned that he had to pay his own travel expenses, an obstacle that seemed too large to overcome. However, when MCH president Bobby Gilliam heard about this opportunity, he called Mims and told him that the Home would pay for his expenses. Evy Kay Ritzen, program director at TRAC, then used her connections to handle his travel arrangements.

"I am very grateful for Mr. Gilliam and Methodist Children's Home," Mims said. "Without their support, I would not have been able to go on that trip."

The Helping America's Youth initiative is under the direction of Mrs. Laura Bush. During the event at The White House, she expressed her appreciation for the volunteers and mentors who work with at-risk youth, and she addressed many of the challenges they face each day.

Mims has certainly experienced his share of challenges. When he was a young child, his mother worked long hours as a nurse to try to provide for her children. Without a father at home, the older children were forced to help care for the daily needs of their younger siblings. Eventually, his family had to leave their apartment due to financial problems and they moved in with Mims' grandmother. When she could no longer provide care, the children were placed in the custody of the state, which began a series of placements for Mims.

"I lived in so many foster care homes and children's homes, I can't even remember them all," Mims said. "Even though I was young, I knew something wasn't right."

Mims' older brother and sister ended up at Methodist Children's Home, and he and his younger sister were placed there later.

Mims had a difficult transition to the Home, primarily because of the numerous moves he had previously made to different foster homes or agencies. During his first days at MCH, he made no effort to build relationships with staff or peers.

“I had moved around so much I was never at a place long enough to build relationships,” he said. “I thought I would be moving again, so I didn’t see a need to get to know anyone. I just stayed in my room and cried.”

Mims often questioned why his life was turning out like it did. He desperately wanted to return to Dallas to live with his mother, although she couldn’t care for her children due to personal issues. Mims became increasingly frustrated as staff members tried to help him feel a sense of belonging at the Home.

“I didn’t understand what they were trying to do for me,” he said. “I didn’t want adults telling me what to do. I was homesick and I was hurt.”

Although his actions didn’t show it, Mims admits he longed for meaningful relationships. He said it took him awhile to learn to trust adults at MCH. He is thankful that they continued to reach out to him despite his resistance.

Initially, two staff members, Candice Darwin and Betty Black, began to connect with Mims. Darwin served as his social worker and Black was one of his homeparents. They knew how much Mims worried about his mother’s well being, and they helped him maintain communication with her during his stay at the Home.

“They did a lot of things for me outside the normal part of their jobs,” he said. “Ms. Betty and Ms. Candice showed me that people really do care about me.”

During his five years at the Home, Mims and Black developed a close relationship. Her concern for Mims’ family and for his personal growth and success enabled Black to earn his trust.

“Ms. Betty is open-minded with kids; she doesn’t care about their race or backgrounds,” Mims said. “She speaks her mind but respects them as people. She just loves kids and that’s what they need.”

Through the self-confidence he gained from Black, Darwin and other staff members and teachers at the MCH charter school, Mims began to build relationships with his peers and participate in campus activities. He especially enjoyed his involvement in a student-led organization that educated residents about the dangers of drugs, alcohol and violence. Mims also served on the yearbook staff and played basketball, and he participated in a study program sponsored by SMU’s Perkins Youth School of Theology in New Mexico.

As his life began to change, Mims wanted to tell others about his success. He often shared his testimony at churches around the state as a member of Ambassadors. He received numerous awards throughout his stay at the Home, including the LaTonya Bassey Circle of Courage Award, presented to a resident who demonstrates resiliency and courage despite having faced adversity.

As one of the staff members who knew him best, Black admired Mims for the efforts he made to improve his life.

“I loved all the boys in that home, but I believe I was harder on Lonnie,” Black said. “I expected more out of him because I could see his potential. I wanted him to become a leader in our home, and he did.”

Mims admits he was motivated to succeed in part because of stereotypes he faced before coming to the Home. Growing up in adverse conditions, his future looked bleak. However, he refused to give in to the perceptions and expectations of others.

“I’m big on proving people wrong,” he said. “I know people stereotype me, but I’ll tell you today, I have never used drugs or alcohol and I try to make good choices. I work hard because I know my actions speak louder than my words.”

Mims believes he sent a strong message to those in his past when he graduated from high school in 2005. After he left the Home, he joined the Job Corps and later moved back to Dallas so he could help support his family. Today, Mims is attending Eastfield College where he is pursuing a degree in automotive design, and he is working part-time in the banking industry through support provided by TRAC. His interest in cars was identified during his early days at MCH.

Enjoying a morning in the snow with friends and staff is one of Lonnie Mims’ favorite memories of living at MCH.

“If you want to prove people wrong to let them know that you are somebody special, then you need to take advantage of what you’ve been given at Methodist Children’s Home ...”

— LONNIE MIMS, during a speech to current MCH residents.

remembers watching Mims draw pictures of cars while he waited for the school bus.

“I enjoyed visiting with Lonnie at the campus bus stop in the mornings,” he said. “He always showed me his latest sketch of a car. His favorite car was a Mustang convertible. It doesn’t surprise me that he wants to pursue a career in automotive design.”

Last spring, Mims was invited to speak to students at the MCH charter school. Jackson knew that many of the youth could identify with Mims’ struggles and that they would be encouraged and motivated by his success.

“Lonnie has empathy for these young people because he has walked down the road they’re walking,” Jackson said. “He understands their trials and tribulations.”

During his address to students, Mims challenged them to take their education seriously. He still remembers the encouragement he received from his mother when he was a child.

“She always told me that I needed to do my best in school,” he said. “She said that she knew I was going to grow up to be somebody important but that I had to have an education to fulfill my dreams. When I go to my college classes, I still remember those words.”

Mims told the students that he is also motivated by a desire to provide a good life for his family.

“When I have kids, I don’t want them to have to go through what I went through,” he said. “And the best way for me to provide for my family is to complete my education and get a good job. I don’t want to live average.”

Mims said he realizes that many MCH youth face the same stereotypes he faced as a child. He told the students that they have a choice to make, just as he did.

“If you want to prove people wrong, to let them know that you are somebody special, then you need to take advantage of what you’ve been given at Methodist Children’s Home and work hard,” he said. “The Home taught me that God created me and that there’s a purpose for my life. I thank God every day for providing these wonderful opportunities for me.”

During Mims’ visit at the school, several of his former staff members, including Black, attended the sessions when he spoke to students. As he concluded his last presentation, he asked Black to come to the front of the room so he could recognize her for the contributions she has made to his life.

“Ms. Betty opened my eyes to see what I had in life,” he said. “She wants to help every person, no matter what they face. That’s respect right there. Look at what she has done for me.”

Mims knows that there are many staff members, teachers and administrators who influenced his life, and he talks about the Home every chance he gets.

“I consider this place my home away from home,” he said. “Not long after I graduated, I wanted to come back. I had some really good times here. However, it wasn’t the program or activities that helped me. The people here made the difference in my life.”

Striving for the best

Lonnie Mims, a 2005 graduate of Methodist Children’s Home, spoke at the Helping America’s Youth regional conference on Nov. 8, 2007, in Dallas. Mims talked about the Home’s influence on his life. Following are excerpts from his address at the conference:

First off, I want to say thank you to God and to my mother. Without her, I wouldn’t be here today. And I want to express how my life has been, how hard it has been and how I changed all those bad things into good things.

Lonnie Mims was reunited with Betty Black, his former homeparent, during a visit to the Home last spring.

Most of my life, I was separated from my family, in and out of children’s homes, in and out of the care of the state. As a young child, I found out that my father was denying that I was his son. For a young child to go through something like that is very painful. I have a reason to be mad, I have a reason to go out and do bad things, but my life has been so hard I chose not to turn that way. I said, “I’ve been living too hard, I don’t want to live average, so I’m going to do what I need to do to get the best for me and my family.”

My mother tried to be there as much as she could. I want to say that I love her still to this day. She’s the number one queen in my life. The way I strive for the best is because I see my family going through hard things. There were weeks when I went without eating and days when I went without a change of clothes or a good education.

“It wasn’t the program that helped me out the most, it was the people in the program.”

When I went into the care of the state for the last time, I moved into the Methodist Children’s Home in Waco. It wasn’t the program that helped me out the most, it was the people in the program. So I want to say to all of the mentors out there now, please keep doing what you’re doing. You don’t know how much you change our lives.

There is this one lady at Methodist Children’s Home, her name is Ms. Betty. She had to look up to me, but I still look up to her because she’s the second woman in my life. I would be happy to help her anytime she needs me.

Ms. Betty was like a substitute mother to me. She took care of my prom. That is one of the most important things of a teenager’s life. She took care of that with money out of her own pocket to make sure I had the best. Today, I proudly say that I love Ms. Betty, and if she can hear this today, I want to say, “Ms. Betty, you have made an impact on my life. I want to thank you for it.” Now, I am going to college to study to be an engineer and automotive designer, and I’m going to be the best.

CORE recognizes Mary Bilheimer with national award

Mary Bilheimer, who has served youth at MCH for 35 years, received the Residential Supervisor of the Year Award from the Coalition for Residential Education in April.

Throughout her career, Bilheimer has remained committed to meeting the individual needs of the youth in her care, and in doing so she helps the Home achieve its mission to offer hope to children, youth and families. She works tirelessly to help youth identify and develop their strengths and talents, and she enjoys seeing her youth recognized for their hard work and personal growth.

Bilheimer's tenure at MCH inspires those who work alongside her. She began her service at the Home as a secretary in 1972, but during her first year she decided she wanted to work more closely with the children. She accepted a social work position in 1973, beginning a lifelong journey of service to youth. Bilheimer worked as a social worker for 34 years, during which she served more than 500 youth. In May 2007, she became a unit manager, where she now supervises a team of 10 staff members who care for 10 youth and their families.

Charlsie Whitney, campus administrator and Bilheimer's supervisor, says that when staff members need to know what to do in a situation, they know where to turn for help.

"Mary has a wealth of knowledge and she willingly shares it with others," she said.

According to Whitney, Bilheimer frequently goes the extra mile in caring for her youth. One of her favorite activities is hosting birthday celebrations for residents. In addition, she volunteers to assist with driver's education for MCH youth, and she sponsors a student-led Christmas card company and Student Council.

Bilheimer has earned widespread respect from staff and youth. She is described as dedicated, caring, compassionate and a "living legend." A fellow staff member said, "Mary epitomizes all that is good at Methodist Children's Home."

Bilheimer admits she has dealt with many challenges, but she remains committed to helping youth develop hope for their lives.

"Seeing the results in the lives of some of the kids that go through the program keeps me going," she said. "To see a child's life changed or saved makes the hard work worth it."

MCH nominated Robert Harrell, a graduating senior, for CORE's Student of the Year award, and Clinton and Mary Ann Stone, homeparents at the Boys Ranch, for Residential Educators of the Year.

Irwin, Ashleigh win top honors at state music contest

Irwin and Ashleigh, students at the MCH charter school, earned a 1st Division rating and a gold medal at the Texas State Solo/Ensemble Contest May 24 in San Marcos.

This was the first time charter school students have competed in the state UIL contest.

"Ashleigh and Irwin set the bar high for other contestants to follow," said Lorye Carter-Reed, music director at the charter school. "They received high praise from the judge, particularly for being well-prepared and for their excellent musicianship."

The students sang their pieces from memory. Ashleigh sang "O, Redeemed," a spiritual by Uzze Brown, and Irwin sang "Linden Lea" by Ralph Vaughan Williams.

They advanced to the state competition after earning a 1st Division rating at the regional competition Feb. 23 in Waco. Other high schools in the same region as MCH include Waco, Midway, La Vega, Connally, China Spring, Robinson and Whitney.

MCH residents Irwin and Ashleigh earned 1st Division ratings at the Texas State Solo/Ensemble Contest May 24. The students attend the MCH charter school on the Waco campus. They are pictured with Lorye Carter-Reed, music director at the school.

Kristina earns Central Texas “incredible kid” award

Kristina, a May graduate at Methodist Children’s Home, was recognized by the Camp Fire USA Tejas Council for her personal growth during its Second Annual Absolutely Incredible Kids Celebration May 8 in Waco. Kristina was one of 10 Central Texas youth who were recognized during the luncheon.

Kristina was nominated for the award by Sarah Heger, her high school English teacher at the Home’s University of Texas Charter School. She wrote the following information about Kristina as part of her nomination:

Courage – Kristina shows leadership in many areas at the Methodist Children’s Home. She came to Waco about three years ago from New Mexico, which was quite a change of scenery. She was placed here for the usual reasons, personal or family circumstances that require a helping hand. Kristina was a shy, quiet, withdrawn freshman. After working with counselors and staff, Kristina began to come out of her proverbial shell. She began to make friends and began to trust again. Kristina could have remained the loner that she once was, but with courage, she took the steps to get to know the people that love her.

Now, Kristina is a courageous senior about to graduate. She is president of the first nationally recognized student council at the Methodist Children’s Home school. She is on the tri-council, an in-depth campus/student run government for the Methodist Children’s Home, and she participated in UIL ready writing. It’s hard to believe that Kristina was ever afraid to get up in front of a crowd. Now, she gives speeches and presentations on behalf of her various committees on campus.

Heroism – Kristina may not be “Super Girl,” but she is a hero to those in her life. She is a hero to her sister, Tylan. Kristina has a bond with her sister like few siblings have. They look out for each other even though they are many miles apart. Kristina, being the older of the two, is a shining example of sisterly love and loyalty.

Generosity – There are countless examples of Kristina showing her generous and loving spirit. Kristina may still be somewhat reserved, but just ask her for help and she is on the job with a great attitude of service. Kristina serves her peers by being a mentor, peer mediator, and, at times, a tutor. Kristina lends her helping hands as well as ears and a shoulder for support. She is generous through her willingness to “be there” for anyone who might need her.

As you can see, Kristina is not your typical girl. She is not constantly on a cell-phone or computer. She looks for the novelties in life. She is more interested in reading a good book or writing an uplifting letter to a family member than being the most popular girl in school. What’s ironic is that Kristina is popular. She is popular because she is trusted, highly esteemed, and dependable.

Brittanees dance skills earn her a trip to Paris

When Brittanees, an MCH resident, tried out for the Waco High School drill team as a freshman three years ago, she admits her goal was to “just have fun.” She had no idea that her talents would eventually take her around the world.

In March, Brittanees and other Texas high school drill team members enjoyed the sights and sounds of Paris, France, as a reward for their individual performances at the HTE Dance Training Camp last summer. Brittanees was the only member of the Waco High squad who earned the opportunity to participate on the trip. Participants had to pay their travel expenses, and Brittanees received help from the Home.

“It was a fun trip, and I enjoyed comparing the way they live with the way we live in the United States,” she said. “It was fun learning about a different culture. I am thankful for the opportunity to go on a trip like that.”

Brittanees, who will be a senior this fall, was voted by her team members to serve as captain of the 41-member squad for the second consecutive year.

“It’s a big responsibility and there’s a lot of pressure because I have to make sure everyone learns the routines,” she said. “I enjoy teaching them and seeing the benefits of our hard work.”

Brittanees is participating in the drill team camp again this summer, and she looks forward to her final year with her Waco High squad.

“During my freshman year, I got really nervous when I performed,” she said. “But I’ve gotten used to it. People tell me that they like to watch me dance, and that makes me feel good.”

God's girls

Lori Battles draws strength from the Lord and Methodist Children's Home as she raises her grandchildren.

Each morning when Lori Battles prepares to take her grandchildren to day care, they stack their hands on top of each other and shout "1-2-3 God's girls!" and then pray for their day. These moments together help Battles and the girls – Sierra, 5, and Mya, 3 – prepare for a new day and remind them of the importance of keeping God as the top priority in their lives.

Battles knows that it takes God's strength in her life to help meet the daily needs of her grandchildren, who were placed into her custody last December.

"I want to make sure we keep God in our daily lives," said Battles, who enjoys singing at churches, revivals and special events. "The most important thing I can do as a grandparent is to help them know the Lord."

When Battles accepted custody of the girls, she understood the challenging circumstances she would face. She must now get up early enough to help the girls get dressed before driving them to day care. She then works until 6 p.m., when she picks up the girls from their other grandparents' home and starts their evening routine, which often includes a trip to a local park or other activity before going home.

"It has definitely changed my lifestyle," Battles said. "They depend on me for their basic needs, guidance and support. I'm doing everything I can to provide for them."

Battles admits that she would not be able to care for her grandchildren without the assistance of the girls' other grandparents, James Dolan Williams Jr. and his wife, Denise, who spend time with the girls daily. Mrs. Williams took care of the girls for five months before they started day care so Battles could maintain full-time employment, and Mr. Williams changed jobs so he could spend more time at home.

"They are truly a blessing and the girls just love them," Battles said. "This situation has created a special lifetime friendship."

Battles also values the support and resources provided by Methodist Children's Home through its Grandparents As Parents Program (GAPP), which is under the direction of Rehan McNeil. Through this program, MCH supports grandparents who serve as the primary caregivers for their grandchildren. The Home provides support groups and workshops, assistance with legal issues and governmental agencies, case management, limited financial assistance and referrals to community-based services.

MCH provided financial support to help Battles place her grandchildren in a quality day care program and assisted with a few electrical bills during emergency situations, and the Home helped Battles find legal assistance during the custody process.

Lori Battles and her granddaughters, Sierra, left, and Mya, enjoy spending time together at a Waco park. Battles is one of more than 1,500 grandparents in Waco who serve as the primary caregivers for their grandchildren. Battles values the support she receives through the Grandparents As Parents Program at Methodist Children's Home.

"Rehan and Methodist Children's Home have been wonderful," Battles said. "This is a great program for grandparents. If I need help with something, Rehan will either provide it or find someone who can. She has been a special blessing to me."

McNeil has been impressed with Battles' commitment to her grandchildren.

"When I see Lori, I think of one of my favorite scriptures, 'I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me,'" McNeil said. "Her life is a testimony of all the grandparents who are making it work, regardless of the odds."

Battles believes more grandparents need to learn about the services and support provided through GAPP. According to the latest census figures, 6.7 million children in the United States are being raised by grandparents and other relatives. In Texas, more than 257,000 grandparents are raising their grandchildren in their homes, and this total includes more than 1,500 in Waco.

"Without the Home providing services through GAPP, many grandparents would not be able to provide the basic necessities for their families," McNeil said. "It is our charge to equip grandparents and families with tools and resources that will strengthen the familial ties, increase feelings of self-worth, foster self-preservation and encourage self-sufficiency."

While MCH can help meet a variety of needs, Battles believes one of the greatest benefits for grandparents is having a person like McNeil working alongside them.

"Rehan is a sweet and wonderful person and I know she truly cares about our family," Battles said. "Methodist Children's Home is always right there for me. They look out for grandparents and their grandchildren."

Lori Battles is grateful for the support of James Dolan Williams Jr. and his wife, Denise, grandparents of Sierra and Mya.

Thank you!

In April, Methodist Children's Home reached a special milestone of 1,000 children and youth in daily care. Our ministry is grateful to the individuals, families, churches and groups that chose to provide charitable donations to help the Home expand its services.

By reaching this goal, MCH has doubled the number of children and youth served by the Home just four years ago. This achievement is the culmination of years of planning and hard work.

While we celebrate this goal, Methodist Children's Home is not finished growing. Today, the needs of at-risk children and youth in our communities are more complex and numerous than ever before. Join with this ministry as we seek ways to serve more children from Texas and New Mexico who are in need of the hope found through our nurturing, Christian community.

CIRCLE OF FRIENDS

Sharing a Second Century of Love

Recognizing the friends of Methodist Children's Home for outstanding contributions in the support of children throughout Texas and New Mexico

What is the Circle Of Friends?

The Circle of Friends was created by the Board of Directors at the end of 1990 during the celebration of the beginning of our second century of ministry to children. It is designed to give appropriate recognition and expressions of appreciation to those who generously support Methodist Children's Home boys and girls.

Who can join the Circle of Friends?

Individuals, businesses, United Methodist Women and Men's groups, Sunday School classes and civic organizations may be members of the Circle of Friends.

What if I do not want my name publicly announced?

In January, we mail a card to each donor asking for permission to list his or her name in our Circle of Friends. We only print the names of those who have returned the card, granting permission to print. We respect your privacy and the confidentiality of your gifts. At any time, you may indicate that you wish all gifts to remain unrecognized and we will mark your record accordingly.

Will my church receive credit if I send my gift directly to the Home?

Yes, when you request church credit. We routinely send all gifts back through the annual conference treasurer for church credit, just as your church treasurer does when a Methodist Children's Home gift is given through the church. Please let us know the name of your church when you make your gift.

Methodist Children's Home does not receive any funds through apportionments. All giving to the Home is through the free will of those who love Methodist Children's Home boys and girls and who give generously, above and beyond gifts to the local church.

Circle of Friends Giving Levels

Methodist Children's Home has been blessed with a heritage of friends that we are pleased to recognize through the Circle of Friends.

STAFF RECOGNITION

Methodist Children's Home recognized the dedication and commitment of Don Scott to youth at the Boys Ranch during its annual FFA banquet May 2. Scott is pictured here with, from left, Javier, Michael and Jared, three of this year's officers for FFA. Scott served as Boys Ranch administrator from 1992-2008. He was recently named Administrator of Prevention and Transition Services for the Home. Dottie Briggs, campus life director at the Boys Ranch and a former member of the child care staff on the Waco campus, was named administrator at the Ranch.
